

Careers in Languages Day

Are you interested in a career with modern languages? Would you like to know more about working in translation, interpreting and related areas, some of which you have never even thought of?

Why not come to the Careers in Languages Day at our Regent Street site, just two minutes' walk from Oxford Circus? You will be able to talk to people who work as translators, interpret in Brussels, Paris or Geneva, subtitle the latest DVD releases, manage big translation projects, or revise and edit translations for publication worldwide.

This is the ideal chance to find out how your love of languages can start you off on a really exciting career path.

UNIVERSITY OF WESTMINSTER

The presenters of the Careers in Languages Day are graduates of the MA/Postgraduate Diploma courses in translation or interpreting at the University of Westminster. Someone will tell you about re-speaking, that is, live on-the-spot oral subtitling.

- Who? Anyone who wants to work with languages
- What? Short lively talks from people who earn a living from languages
- Where? University of Westminster, 309 Regent Street, W1B 2UW
- When? Saturday 23 February 2008, 10am-5pm
- Why? Graduates with languages are in great demand and will be in even greater demand for the 2012 London Olympics

To register for your free place, please email Jane Jones at j.jones12@westminster.ac.uk
For further information on our courses, visit www.westminster.ac.uk

Organised by the University of Westminster as part of the programme for the National Networks for Translation and for Interpreting (www.routesintolanguages.ac.uk)

The University of Westminster is a charity and a company limited by guarantee.

Registration number: 977818 England. Registered Office: 309 Regent Street, London W1B 2UW.