

Are you a Language Leader?

Are you interested in other cultures? Do you have skills in languages? Are you creative? Could you inspire others to study languages?

If so, you might be just what we are looking for!

As a Language Leader your job will be...

To help your fellow students discover more about the languages that are available to them at school, college and university

To work with Capital L ambassadors in putting together your own special activity calendar, and plan how to spend your 'Language Leaders' budget

To meet at least once a month to plan and organise your activities

To run at least one language focused activity, one culture focused activity, one outreach activity plus one additional activity of your choice throughout the school year (4 in total)*

To commit to a training session at The School of Oriental and African Studies

To be responsible, motivated, and have a good work ethic

To be a team player, but also be ready to take the initiative

To be a Language Leader...

You will have good communication skills

You will have good presentation skills and be willing to give presentations (training is provided)

You will be able to manage your time

You will be punctual and reliable

You will be positive and encouraging about the opportunities open to students

You will share your experiences with students

You will have an interest in languages and/or cultures, and be willing to evidence this

* When organising activities, the language or culture you focus on will be one of your choice, and doesn't have to be one that you are learning at school!
