Then come to the Linguastars summer school this June!

Linguastars is a two-day summer school offered free of charge to Year 12 students of French, Spanish and German, and those who are interested in studying a new language at university. The summer school aims to give students an experience of studying languages at university, enabling them to have a taste of various aspects life as a language student, both academically and socially.

With places available for both day and overnight delegates, you will take part in a variety of engaging and interactive workshops designed to develop and improve your language skills.

Sessions throughout the two days will include: intensive immersion workshops in your A-Level language (French, Spanish or German) or Italian and Russian for beginners; taster workshops in lesser-taught languages and other areas related to foreign language study (such as film studies, linguistics and translation studies), and talks about applying to study languages at university and careers with languages.
